

RIW Construction Practice Group and Attorney Recognized by Chambers USA

By RIW on June 7, 2024

For the second year in a row, RIW President Bradley Croft and RIW's Construction Practice Group have been ranked by Chambers USA as a top construction attorney and top construction law firm in Massachusetts.

Chambers rankings are prestigious, well-known lists that spotlight top lawyers and law firms based on detailed research and feedback from clients and peers. They consider several criteria for their rankings, including quality of legal work, professional conduct, diligence, and client service. A Chambers ranking is a coveted designation regarded as the gold-standard among rankings of legal professionals.

In his construction practice, Brad represents owners, general contractors, and subcontractors in all aspects of construction disputes and transactions. Brad has handled several high-profile construction disputes, including the landmark 2022 case Tocci Building Corp. v. IRIV Partners, in which his client won a $7 million judgment under the Massachusetts Prompt Payment Act, the first time that statute was successfully litigated.

RIW's Construction Practice Group helps clients navigate all phases of a construction project, from bidding and contract formation to financing, performance, payment, project close-out, approvals, permitting, and occupancy. We represent developers, general contractors, subcontractors, architects, engineers, suppliers, and sureties on both public and private projects.
