

Emerging Companies

APPROACH

Ruberto, Israel & Weiner's Emerging Companies Group is focused on the needs of regional, national, and international technology businesses and startup companies. We work with technology-based businesses such as software, internet, cloud services, digital media, semiconductors, medical devices and clean technology, as well as manufacturers, retailers, construction and real estate development firms, service providers, and the hospitality industry. We are a part of the strategic team at every stage, from formation through funding, growth and exit strategies. We understand the intersection of finance and technology and our clients' business practices. Our midsize firm and entrepreneurial structure and approach enables us to provide skilled personalized attention from senior level, seasoned attorneys, as well as flexibility and a value-based fee structure.

GLOBAL REACH

Through our international affiliations, we partner with other law firms as needed for entity formation and structure, tax structuring, global distribution agreements, trademarks, partnerships, and other matters.
